

Elizabeth Terak, AuD

Audiology

Elizabeth Terak, Au.D., CCC-A

Dr. Terak completed her Bachelor's degree in Communication Science and Disorders in 2015 from the University of Pittsburgh. She then completed her doctoral degree in Audiology from the Northeast Ohio Au.D. Consortium, a combined program between Kent State University and the University of Akron, in 2019.

Dr. Terak holds professional memberships with the American Speech-Language Hearing Association (ASHA) as well as the American Academy of Audiology (AAA).

She enjoyed her time in Ohio and even concluded her studies with her externship residency year at the Cleveland Clinic. However, Dr. Terak bleeds black and gold as she was born and raised in Pittsburgh, so returning to her hometown after finishing her schooling was very important to her. She has been working for AHN Otolaryngology in the Audiology Division of ENT since September of 2019.

Specialties include Audiology Adult

Locations

AHN Otolaryngology

Allegheny General Hospital

Professional Building

490 E North Ave

Suite 515

Pittsburgh, PA 15212

Tel: 412.442.2573

Fax: 412.442.2544

Credentials | Training & Certifications

School

Kent State University

Expertise

Audiology

ENT

Hearing Loss

Hearing Aids and hearing assistive devices

Hearing Loss Prevention

Hearing Protection

Tinnitus

Dizziness, Vertigo

and Pediatric comprehensive diagnostic audiometric evaluations Adult hearing aids and hearing assistive devices Hearing Conservation for all ages including hearing protection devices, musician's ear plugs, and swim plugs Tinnitus. Dr. Terak truly loves to help people hear and communicate better. When she is not working, Dr. Terak enjoys spending time with her family, reading books, and cuddling with her not so little German Shepherd Dog.