

Rebekah Goldie, AuD

Audiology

Rebekah Goldie is an audiologist with the Division of Otolaryngology. She supports the ENT group by providing audiological testing for patients with hearing and ear disorders. She also assesses patients' needs for hearing assistive devices and dispenses hearing aids.

Dr. Goldie received her undergraduate degree at Kent State University and her Doctorate of Audiology at University of Pittsburgh. She completed her fourth-year externship at Virginia Ear, Nose, and Throat Associates in Richmond, Virginia.

She has certifications from the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Academy of Audiology.

Dr. Goldie assisted in creating and opening the hearing aid department under the Division of Otolaryngology, which started seeing patients in 2019.

She sees patients at the following AHN Facilities: Allegheny Professional Building at AGH and Wexford Health + Wellness
